

Michelle Hill Organisational Coach and Consultant

Michelle Hill is a highly experienced facilitator, leadership and workforce capability development trainer and Ontological Coach operating as a Brisbane-based Alliance Partner of Newfield Institute.

Michelle has over 30 years of experience in providing facilitation, team development and leadership training to all levels of state government, community and non-government sectors. Her experience has been gained through a mix of training and experiential learning in areas such as, organisational and community development, business and performance improvement, change management and facilitation.

As a qualified Ontological Practitioner since 2005, Michelle has worked across Queensland Government agencies applying the ontological distinctions, practices and principles to enable individuals and teams to be better observers, to have more efficient and effective conversations in the workplace and at home and to change their understanding of how their way of being impacts of everything they do – the how and why.

Contact

Mobile: +61 419 675 915

Email: michelle@newfieldinstitute.com.au

Web: www.newfieldinstitute.com.au

Qualifications

- Graduate Diploma of Ontological Coaching
- Graduate Certificate in Public Sector Management
- Certificate in Training and Development, Certificate IV in Workplace Training (Cat 2)
- Certificate of Community Work 1 and 2
- True Colours profiling
- Team Management Profiles and the Linking Skills Profile -TMS
- Prosci Change Management Toolkit
- Certified Myers Briggs Practitioner

Areas of Expertise

- Individual/team coaching and mentoring
- Facilitation (strategic and business planning, issue identification, action and scenario planning through to community engagement)
- Leadership and workforce/team capability development

Recent Experience

- Brisbane Seniors Online
- Medical and Dental Solutions Queensland
- Queensland Shared Services, DSITI
- Department of Natural Resources and Water