

Paul Raciborski Organisational Coach and Consultant

Paul Raciborski is an experienced organisational coach operating as a Sydney-based Alliance Partner of Newfield Institute.

Paul works with Senior Managers and Team Leaders to enable them to achieve successful and sustainable change.

Paul has more than 20 years experience operating at management and senior management levels within multi-national organisations in Australia. His most recent corporate positions were as Project Director for GEON and Project Manager for British American Tobacco Australasia, both as a coach and as a project manager. Paul has worked with individuals and teams at all levels of the organisation in Australia and internationally.

A qualified Ontological Practitioner, Paul has a particular interest in applying the principles of coaching and mentoring to achieve outstanding outcomes in project and change management.

Paul is involved on a voluntary basis with a number of 'not for profit' organisations in the acquired brain injury field. He has found Ontological coaching to be as beneficial here as it is in the corporate sector.

Qualifications

- BSc (Hons) Chemical Engineering
- Graduate Diploma Business Administration
- PRINCE2 Practitioner
- Vocational Graduate Diploma of Ontological Coaching

Areas of Expertise

- Organisational and executive coaching
- Project management
- Organisational process design / improvement
- Organisational governance
- Development of high performance teams
- Productivity / performance improvement
- Personal coaching

Recent Experience

- Disability Council of NSW
- NSW Brain Injury Association
- British American Tobacco Australasia
- GEON Print and Communications

Contact

Mobile: 0417 668 238

Email: paul@newfieldinstitute.com.au

Web: www.newfieldinstitute.com.au